Dear Edgmont Residents,

We are delighted to present you with the 2024 annual calendar. The enclosed information includes the names and titles of your elected, appointed, and contracted staff and officials; public meeting and community event dates; office closures and holidays; emergency contacts; and other important information.

The images found within this calendar have captured the true beauty, history, and culture of Edgmont Township. We hope you will take some time and enjoy all the remarkable work your friends and neighbors have contributed to making this calendar so exceptional. We appreciate the residents who participated this year, and your willingness to share your talents with the community.

Incorporated at the back of the calendar are “Permit Requirement Fast Facts” and “Stormwater Management BMP—Operation & Maintenance” articles. We hope these will help residents to both resolve some common permit questions and understand when permits are required; and help better understand the importance of stormwater management operation and maintenance.

In addition, as you may or may not know, Edgmont’s Fire Company is completely volunteer, and they are in need of additional volunteers to fill a variety of roles. For those who may be interested, the dates of the monthly business meetings and drill nights have been listed on each month of the calendar. You can go to edgmontfire.org to find out more. Please consider volunteering!

Information and announcements are available on the Township website, the official Edgmont Township, Delaware County, PA, Facebook page, and are also sent via the Township’s e-newsletter. We encourage you to sign up and follow us by scanning the QR codes on the back of the calendar, or by visiting edgmont.org.

Thank you for being a part of the Edgmont community and we wish you a wonderful, healthy, and safe Holiday Season and a very Happy New Year!

Very Truly Yours,

Ron Gravina, Lindsey Conan, & Annie Thorne

Stormwater Management BMP Operation & Maintenance:

Something that is often lost in transition is the maintenance responsibility regarding stormwater management Best Management Practices (BMPs). BMPs are not always recognizable, and therefore, may be overlooked as maintenance items. BMPs are structural and vegetative features designed to manage stormwater. It can be confusing to understand what the maintenance obligations are, especially if you do not know what you are looking for, do not know what a BMP is, or where they are located.

The maintenance of stormwater management BMPs fall to the responsibility of homeowners with BMPs on their individual properties, and to the responsibility of HOAs with BMPs on shared community open space. Here are some examples of BMPs that can be found on individual properties and/or community owned open space:

- ♦ Infiltration Bed / Infiltration Trench

- ♦ Infiltration Basin (Dry or Wet)
- ♦ Subsurface Infiltration Bed
- ♦ Rain Garden / Bioretention
- ♦ Dry Well / Seepage Pit
- ♦ Swales / Berms

Why is it important to maintain BMPs? During rain events, stormwater runoff CAN-NOT soak into impervious surfaces such as pavement and rooftops. Therefore, the speed and quantity of water flowing through your community is greater than what was there prior to the development of the property. Stormwater BMPs are designed to slow down and absorb water, which protects property from the damaging effects of unmanaged stormwater, and also trap pollutants such as sediment, oil, trash, etc., so that they do not negatively impact water quality.

BMPs eventually become overgrown and/or overwhelmed with pollutants. In order to preserve their integrity and functionality, they require periodic maintenance. Regular maintenance is essential, even if a facility appears to be in good condition. For example, an Infiltration Basin that is full of sediment and debris, will no longer detain stormwater. However, it is IMPORTANT to perform proper maintenance.

The key document that outlines BMP maintenance and responsibilities is the Stormwater Management Operations & Maintenance Agreement (O & M). Property owners and HOAs can request a copy of these agreements from the Township if they do not have one.

The O & M delineates the specific requirements for each BMP, such as the frequency of inspections and maintenance tasks, and identifies the responsible party for these activities.

It is also recommended to have the "As-Built" Plan for constructed BMPs, which outlines the original design. The "As-Built" is a critical reference for identifying the location of BMPs and long-term maintenance such as structural repairs, ensuring that the intended functionality of the BMP is preserved.

All stormwater management facilities require periodic inspections and maintenance. Both individual property owners and HOAs should come up with a plan for regular maintenance. The first step is to identify BMPs and come up with a plan for ongoing maintenance.

Each BMP should be inspected on an annual basis to ensure that there are no hidden deficiencies. It is always more cost effective to remediate issues early, rather than to perform costly repairs when they become more severe. Each facility is unique, and hiring a professional will help to develop a specific plan for regular maintenance.

HOAs should also be inspecting and maintaining the following on a regular basis:

- ♦ Walking trails & Open Space.
- ♦ Areas of vegetation, including HOA owned medians & areas of overgrowth near roadways.
- ♦ Pool & recreation areas.
- ♦ Emergency access drives.
