

Township Website - Currently Under Construction

News Release Date

01-31-2024

The Township website is currently undergoing changes to include more content and information. The website will still function during this time, however, you may notice that some items look unfinished or may be moved around. Please bear with us as we work to improve the website. Once the website changes have been complete, the Township will send out correspondence through our normal means of electronic communications to inform the community. Thank you for your patience and understanding!

- The Chadds Ford Township Team